

Kettal will present new products for the workplace at Orgatec

At Orgatec, Kettal is set to debut new products and materials that have been adapted to the design and functionality of office spaces. This will include lobbies, lounges, meeting rooms and service areas.

For decades, Kettal has worked on developing their wide range of outdoor product and has now applied this expertise to the design of product for corporate office spaces.

Placing significant importance on comfort and functionality while using superior materials, resulting in lasting high quality products.

Kettal develops products specifically for each project
